

SIKA DEER – Cervus nippon

WHERE DO THEY LIVE?

UK SIKA DEER DISTRIBUTION

©The British Deer Society 2011

HOW BIG ARE THEY?

DID YOU KNOW?

Sika deer:

- in the wild are predominantly of the Japanese variety
- are renowned for their calls which include groans, clacks, whistles and screams
- are increasing in number across Britain
- have distinctive white metatarsal gland markings on their lower hind legs.

Young (calves) born from early May to July.

Living in single sex groups for most of the year, sika deer come together during the breeding season, September - November.